SUMMER (BCT) & ACADEMIC YEAR SQUADRONS

BCT Squadron: Each basic cadet is assigned to a squadron A through J. The names and colors are listed below. Within each squadron cadets are divided into four flights (a, b, c, d). This is how you will identify your son/daughter during BCT. For example; Cobras, d flight. BCT squadrons are temporary, existing only for the six weeks of basic training.

Academic Year Squadron: After BCT, the basic cadets will enter their squadron for the Academic Year. The Cadet Wing (ie, all cadets at the AFA) is divided into 40 squadrons of approximately 110 cadets, with 25-30 from each class. The cadet squadron (CS) is the basic unit in which cadets live and operate. Your son or daughter's Academic Year squadron is listed directly under their BCT Squadron-Flight. For example, if your son/daughter is in Cobras-d flight during BCT, he/she will be in Cadet Squadron (CS) 12 once the academic year starts. Cadets in Interceptors, b flight will be in CS-34, and so on.

Note: After their freshman year cadets are assigned to a new squadron, which will become their permanent squadron for their remaining three years at USAFA.
